Emer Fitzgerald SIUSS Data Analyst

Set up binders in an investigational format.
Continue to identify suspects from 1990 to 2000 files relative to serious assaults on hookers.
Review sexual assaults/violent incidents on hookers 1990 to 2000 and determine if exhibits are present that may be suitable for DNA analysis.

Det/Cst Alex Clarke Lt Duties Investigator
Review all VPD homicides of hookers and hitchhikers to determine potential DNA from previously submitted exhibits and resubmit for PCR Plus.
Review all exhibits held in the Property Office to determine suitability for DNA analysis.
Review sexual assault files for same as above in homicides.

Det. Jim McKnight Prime investigator. Set up master file log and co-ordinate Vancouver 'missing' files.

Det. Phil Little Prime investigator. Co-ordinate suspect identification and search.

The immediate goals of the team are:

1. Jim and Phil to familiarize themselves with the file and set up an investigational format suitable to them.
2. Prepare for a move to Surrey RCMP satellite offices.
3. Continue with duties as outlined above concentrating on building up a substantial DNA data bank of crime scene DNA.
4. Identifying, locating and obtaining samples of DNA from suspects.

I will continue to work on the file to ensure a proper and orderly transition to Jim and Phil. This may entail some work in the Surrey offices, but once that is complete, I will return to my regular duties in the homicide office and Jim and Phil will handle the file on their own. The time frame for this will be determined by the ease of transition and the acquisition of suitable office space. At some point the team will need to hire a clerk to assist with data entry and clerical duties. This will be cost shared by both the VPD and the RCMP.

Before any move to Surrey an M.O.U must be drafted and approved. This must detail staffing costs we are prepared to share etc. Secondly we can't afford to have you go to Surrey on this file. Therefore Jim + Phil should remain here until such time as they are fully prepared to take over Vancouver's commitment to the file.
